

AAERI India Election Norms 2023

AAERI India executive committee would comprise of 11 (Eleven) members which comprises of 5 elected by the full General Body (Central pool) and 6 elected by 6 Regions (Regional Chapters) within India as listed below. One central pool executive membership is reserved for a women member while other positions may be of any gender based on the votes.

1. New Delhi/NCR Region including UP, Uttarakhand and Rajasthan
2. North India Region
3. Chandigarh Region
4. South East India Region
5. West India Region (Gujarat & Maharashtra)
6. South India Region

The list of elected body members will be submitted with the Registrar of Societies duly attested by the three outgoing body members. Members interested in contesting for elections should have four-year-old membership on the date of sending the nomination for the election.

- Only the head of the member organization (Proprietor, Partner or Director) will be eligible to contest for the elections, the company should have been AAERI member for more than 4 years without any disciplinary action (suspension or termination) in the last 4 years. If the contestant is for a regional executive position, the head office of the company should be located in the region they are contesting for the regional post.
- A brief profile of the contesting candidate should be enclosed along with the nomination paper
- The executive committee will serve for two years.
- The election officer nominated by AAERI for the election will have the full and final role in case of a conflict; the election officer will be independent and can take independent decision as per the AAERI MOA, Societies Act and the general election norms.
- The election officer should normally be a person of standing and having no direct interest in the election of any member of the executive
- Contesting candidates are barred from door-to-door canvassing seeking votes from other members.
- The election process will comprise of the first stage of calling for expressions of interest followed by preparation of the ballot and then the process of voting through Electronic voting.

- The date of counting of the votes should be communicated in advance to the participants and participants (or their proxy) may attend the tabulation to be held at a suitable venue.
- Once the election process has commenced, the executive moves to an outgoing or caretaker mode and should not take any decisions or actions (unless urgent) against any participating member.
